

Michalis Chronopoulos holds the position of Head of Security Risk Management in G4S Telematix and Regional Environmental Coordinator in Europe in G4S, managing the Secure Supply Chain department and the cross border response network of G4S in Europe, the advisory services mainly focused on supply chain security and R&D projects in Europe. He is a certified lead security auditor and has been conducting risk assessments for a number of customers entering the High Value Theft Targeted transportation sector. As an Electrical and Computer Engineer he previously served as Head of Technology managing high end projects, the development of security products and the monitoring of critical infrastructure.